

SHRI Engage – Talent Spotting & Talent Enhancement

6 July 2011, Wednesday | 2.00pm to 5.30pm | SHRI @ The Verge, TR 9

Talent is always in short supply in all organizations, and it is a key task of the HRM to spot talents both internally and externally, and once identified, to groom and enhance talents. In this seminar, you will gain out-of-the-box snazzy insights from an industry experienced management consultant on the 'dos' and 'don'ts' when you embark on Talent Spotting and Talent Enhancement for your organization.

Is spotting and developing genuine talent in your people a skill or an art?

Should you groom internally or bring in external talent?

What is talent anyway? How do we understand it from an organizational context?

SPEAKER

Charles Lim, Founder – Principal Consultant, Project Pro Pte Ltd

Charles Lim (MBA, BSc NUS, PMP[®], PRINCE2[®] Practitioner, Certified Master Coach CMC-BCI, Aust) has over 25 years of management and training experience. He has spearheaded business projects and led both project and management teams, overseeing functional areas including Sales, Marketing, Operations, Procurement, HR and Finance. Charles has also undertaken a wide array of business and managerial roles and responsibilities, with strategic and bottom-line accountability from both revenue as well as cost perspectives.

Charles is currently a practicing management consultant enabling organizations to prioritize and strategize growth through enhancing, aligning and leveraging on their organization processes, technology and, most importantly, their people. Charles' extensive experience and inimitable approach enables him to bring across difficult concepts or apparently conflicting perspectives of different stakeholders to a new alignment.
